Alcatel-Lucent Joins the IJIS Institute as its 12th Sustaining Member

Institute's Influential class of members continues to grow

Ashburn, Va., August 23, 2011. The IJIS Institute, a nonprofit organization that focuses on mission-critical information sharing for justice, public safety, and homeland security, announces that Alcatel-Lucent (NYSE: ALU) has joined its Sustaining Membership program by becoming the organization's 12th Sustaining Member. Alcatel-Lucent has been a member of the IJIS Institute since August 25th, 2010.

Sustaining Membership is a rapidly growing program comprised of companies who offer extensive expertise which will help support the IJIS Institute in its mission of information sharing and bringing the public and private sectors together. This class of membership is available to any company seeking to raise their level of participation within the IJIS Institute.

In addition to the benefits already received as a member of the IJIS Institute, Sustaining Membership includes the following advantages:

- Enhanced recognition on the IJIS Institute website and promotional materials such as e-newsletters and event signage
- Increased allowances for Industry Briefing attendance and participation
- Exclusive invitation only meetings with industry and government leaders to discuss issues related to information sharing standards and initiatives
- Participation on the IJIS Institute Business Advisory Council, which will provide guidance and recommendations on issues and opportunities affecting the IJIS Institute

Morgan Wright, Vice President of the Global Public Safety Segment with Alcatel-Lucent, stated, "This upgrade in membership status will prove even more valuable to Alcatel-Lucent and the goals it has for growth within its 4G wireless division, which focuses on interoperability solutions in the areas of justice, public safety and homeland security. We look forward to finding new and innovative ways to partner with the IJIS Institute and helping them promote their mission."

Glenn Archer, Executive Director of the IJIS Institute, said, "We are pleased to welcome Alcatel-Lucent as our 12th Sustaining Member and are eager to begin collaboration with them on projects and issues not only important to the IJIS Institute, but to industry and government as a whole." Archer further stated, "We have continued to grow our membership through the efforts of individuals who have seen the benefits of their association with the IJIS Institute. As they have moved on to new positions, many of these individuals have encouraged their new firms to participate in the IJIS Institute as well. Morgan Wright is no exception and has personally been engaged for many years with the IJIS Institute by serving on our Board of Directors and on many of our committees. We are especially pleased to have him once again engaged with the IJIS Institute.".
